FOR LAST TIME — FOUR-YEAR-OLD BRIGITTA TOERN-GREN will see Santa Claus for the last time in her life this Christmas. Brigitte has been blind in her right eye since an eye operation when she was nine months old. Now, in order to save her life, doctors in Skoensberg, Sweden, say the other eye must be removed. Doctors have promised Brigitte's parents they will delay the operation until after Christmas to give her a last

'Affair' Is Hinted in Murder Trial

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mrs. J. O. Rand, an attractive housewife on trial for the fatal shooting of a young businessman in the bedroom of her home, listened intently today as prosecution witnesses testified about the slaying.

The 39-year-old wife of a prominent Rogers merchant is charged with second degree murder in the death of H. V. (Buddy) Clark last Aug. 9.

Clark, 32, a Rogers restaurant owner, was hit by four bullets fired from a .25 caliber pistol which Mrs. Rand kept on a night-table. She told police Clark entered the house while her husband was away and refused to leave.

The prosecution contends the brunette was having a love affair with Clark and that he tried to break it off before he was killed.

Two police witnesses and a photographer were summoned as the Benton Circuit Court trial entered its second day.

Jos Hill, a radio operator at the Rogers police station, testified that Mrs. Rand telephoned just after the shooting and asked for an officer to come to the house. He dispatched Patrolman Glenn Austin, who made an investigation and left the Rand home. A short time later, Hill said, Mrs. Rand called and asked that protection be furnished her.

Sam Lanham of Rogers, the photographer, identified photographs of the Rand home and Clark's body as some taken by him.

Clark was hit by three bullets
in the chest and one in the arm.
He staggered to his car and drove to a hospital where he died on an operating table several hours after the shooting.

Photographs of the bullet-pierced body were circulated among the 12 married men on the jury.

Mrs. Rand has pleaded innocent by reason of self-defense. Her attorney, Jeff Duly of Rogers, told the jury in his initial statement that if all of Prosecutor Ted Coxsey's allegations about a love affair were true, "she is still not guilty of a crime."

Coxsey had said the state would prove a love affair between Mrs.
Rand and Clark had existed for several years.

Large crowds attended the sessions yesterday and today. Mrs.
Laney Clark, 32, widow of Clark, was in court for the start of the trial but was not present today.
She and Clark had two young daughters.

Mrs. Rand and her husband, a prominent Rogers businessman and president of the Rogers school board, have two young sons. Rand was in Georgia for Army Reserve training at the time of the shooting.

The maximum penalty for second degree murder is 21 years in prison.

Pleads Innocent
to Rape Charge

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Raymond James, 21, of Searcy Springs, has pleaded innocent to a charge of rape in connection with an alleged attack on a young woman late Friday.

James was arrested at an Oklahoma tavern after the woman reported to police that she was attacked at gunpoint Nov. 7. She said the assailant held her husband at bay during the alleged rape.

The couple said they were picked up by the attacker who then drove hitchhiking from Searcy to Springs to Fayetteville.

James was arraigned in Benton Circuit Court. Bond was set at $10,000 and he was held in jail for bond. No trial date was set immediately.

State Business Climate Rated 'Excellent'

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An official of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce said today that employers rate the state's business climate this year as "good to excellent" but want the Legislature to give businessmen more breaks.

Frank Cantrell, managing director of the Chamber, told a convention of the organization that employers think the General Assembly should keep the "interests of business more firmly in mind in enactment of state laws."

Cantrell said Arkansas' healthy business picture in 1959 was proved by the fact that more than 100,000 manufacturing jobs were provided in the state for the first time in history.

The Chamber has a goal of 110,- 000 such jobs by 1965. Signs indicate the figure will be reached sooner, Cantrell said.

He also cited a rise in the average manufacturing wage in Arkansas to about $94 a week, record tax revenues, a per capita in the first time, and total personal income estimated at some $2,200,- 000,000 along with all-time highs in retail sales.

The 31st annual meeting of the Chamber opened today with more than 500 business leaders expected.

Macmillan and Adenauer Go Into Huddle

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today began three days of talks aimed at ending a year of bickering between their countries.

Both leaders expressed confidence the meeting will lead to an era of harmonious British-German relations.

"Germany is our joint partner and ally," Macmillan said Monday night at a London banquet. "Our aim is the widest and most fruitful association of European countries."

Adenauer said last month he was optimistic that the talks would bring the two nations "into full unity and harmony."

Topics expected to dominate the conference—in addition to British German relations—are the proposed summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and possible trade rivalry in Europe between the British-led group known as the "Outer Seven" and the six-nation Common Market that includes West Germany.

Relations between the British and West German governments reached a postwar low early this year.

British newspapers and officials privately charged Adenauer with being stubbornly inflexible and trying to block Macmillan's efforts to improve relations between the West and the Soviet Union. There was also talk that Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle were gangling up on Britain in an effort to reduce her influence on the European continent.

Officials in Bonn were highly critical of the British, accusing Macmillan of going soft toward the Soviets and being willing to abandon West Berlin and the long-standing allied aim of German reunification. Adenauer even publicly accused British officials of inspiring an anti-German campaign in the British press.

Clark was hit by three bullets
in the chest and one in the arm.
He staggered to his car and drove
to a hospital where he died on an operating table several hours after

More Missiles

McElroy said the Navy and Air Force had volunteered to cut their manpower requirements a little in 1968. To offset this loss they can look forward to more and better missiles and more atomic-powered submarines. A second nuclear-powered aircraft carrier for the Navy failed to get approval.

The Army and Marine Corps resisted pressures to cut their forces.

McElroy, foreshadowing the new shape of war in the missile age, said the nation must face some time in the future the question of calling back some of its forces overseas. No cut in these forces is in prospect for the next 18 months.

In concert with McElroy's thinking, the Air Force chief of staff Monday told the meeting of NATO parliamentarians here to expect cutbacks in conventional forces, including manned aircraft, in the future.

Gen. Thomas D. White told the NATO group other changes are in prospect, such as a rearrangement of military forces now in Europe and creating of a fast-striking combat unit based in the United States but ready for action anywhere.

White's views dovetailed with the forecast made by McElroy to newsmen in Augusta and on his return to Washington.

McElroy said the 1961 defense budget could be cleared with the National Security Council within 10 days and get Eisenhower's final approval before he takes off Dec. 3 for a two-week mission to 11 nations.

Military manpower now is about 2½ million. Just where and how many will be pared was not disclosed.

Two Escapists Are Recaptured Today

PIGGOTT, Ark. (AP) — The fourth of four prisoners who escaped early yesterday from jail here was recaptured today at his home near Paragould, the Clay County sheriff's office announced.

The others had been picked up previously.

Last to be taken was Robert Hicks, 49.

Billy Bell, 16, of Piggott, and Jack Bostick, 17, of Gideon Mo., were arrested at St. Louis and Bozie Thompson, 25, of Rector, at Ponca Bluff, Mo., yesterday.

All four had been held on minor charges.

Bell and Bostick told St. Louis police the prisoners used a metal bed post to force out bricks in a wall of the old jail. They wriggled through the opening from their second floor cells to a porch roof and dropped the short distance to the ground.

The Christmas Seal children are sharing with the needy. Those who respond to the appeal and give generously can also bring life and hope to sufferers whose need is great.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McRae motored to Little Rock Thursday for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hambright were Thursday guests and their son, Paul Hambright in Longview Texas.

Mrs. Charles Bolls left Thursday for Karsel, Germany to join her husband, Pfc. Bolls, who is serving with the U.S. Army. Mrs.

The youths could receive maximum reformatory sentences of not more than five years. They are John Rich and Henry Stokes, both 16; Jacob Bothea, 17, and Edward Jacobs, 12.

Charge Against Bartender Dropped

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Charges against Tommy Priakon, a Pine Bluff drive-in restaurant operator, for selling beer in a milliner court.

Priakon was involved several weeks ago in a dispute with segregationists who objected to his hiring Negro waiters at his restaurant.

Bobby Leon Wyatt, 13, of Pine Bluff, was charged with buying beer illegally. Charges against him also were dropped.

Negro waiters, who were removed from the restaurant after white men harassed at the place and held up business, later returned to work.

16th Baptist Convention Opens Today

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Over 2,000 church representatives are expected at the opening of the 16th annual Arkansas Baptist State Convention here today.

Several major financial decisions face the delegates and a row opens over the seating of messengers from a segregationist pastor.

A record $1,725 budget will go before the convention.

The Rev. Wesley Pruden of Little Rock, who has been one of the city's segregationist spokesmen, has said efforts might be made to bar the delegation from his church Broadmoor Baptist.

Court action has resulted over a controversy revolving around Pruden. Fourteen Baptist laymen from east Arkansas filed suit in Pulaski Chancery Court last week to prevent the Baptist Convention from giving monetary aid to the new University Baptist Church.

The Broadmoor Church recently was voted out of the Pulaski County Baptist Assn. and the University Church was voted in. Rev. William Henley, pastor of the University Church, said the suit was "ridiculous" and that his church had no plans to ask for financial aid.

Rev. Harold Coble, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cullendale, was elected president of the Arkansas Baptist Pastors Conference yesterday.

Other officers include Rev. Bill Cook, pastor of First Baptist Church of Harrison, vice president, and Rev. Emil Williams, pastor of First Baptist Church of Russellville, secretary.

Maryland's Act of Religious Toleration, adopted in 1649, was a forerunner of the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

New Operator for Home That Was Criticized

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Trinity Nursing Home here, which Gov. Orval E. Faubus singled out for sensational criticism last July, has been leased to a new operator.

Mrs. Richard Cox, a licensed practical nurse, said she had received the approval of state officials to have Trinity, where she has been employed, licensed again.

Mrs. Cox leased the institution from Mrs. Gladys Neal Brandon, an attorney and the operator for the past four years, who said she would return to the private practice of law.

After Faubus on July 16 made charges of improper and unsatisfactory practices and mismanagement against Trinity, the Pulaski County Grand Jury made an extensive investigation of all nursing homes in the county.

It reported some improper bookkeeping procedures, but that was about all. Neither Trinity nor any other nursing home was mentioned by name.

Faubus tried to have state welfare patients removed from Trinity. Mrs. Brandon got an injunction against their removal.

The home had 92 welfare patients 10 days before the Faubus charges. Yesterday it had 70 such patients plus eight private patients.

Trinity has operated without a state Health Department license since last Jan. 1 because of department objections to certain architectural features of the building and alleged overcrowding.

In early July it was issued a Welfare Department certificate, which has since been cancelled along with such certificates to other nursing homes.

Mrs. Cox said she would remodel the Trinity building to meet Health Department requirements.

A Niece to Contest the Thompson Will

CHICAGO (AP) — A niece of the late Gale Thompson, who died leaving an estate of 10 million dollars, has announced through her attorneys, that she will contest his will which makes no mention of her.

The niece is Mrs. Medora Peilouze Ricketts, 44, of Mountain Home, Ark., the adopted daughter of Thompson's sister, Helen Peilouze, who died in 1953.

Thompson, brother of former Chicago Mayor William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson, died Sept. 26 here at the age of 88. His wife had died in 1943 and they had no children.

Thompson left the bulk of the estate estimated at $10,050,000, to three other nieces, daughters of the late Percival Thompson.

The announcement by Lawrence S. Jacobsen and Myron Lieberman came at a hearing on admitting the will to probate. The attorneys moved to deny probate and Assistant Probate Judge Pasquale Sorrentino continued the hearing to Nov. 24.

The attorneys, through questioning of witnesses, indicate they would try to establish that Gale had a live stinging antclaw as a means of defense.

Hope Council of Garden Clubs Sets Date for Holiday House Pilgrimage

The Hope Council of Garden Clubs set the date for the Holiday House Pilgrimage when they met at the home of Mrs. Lamar Cox on November 11. This year's tour of four homes will be held on December 10 and will use as its theme "A Song in the Air."

Mrs. Lloyd Kinard, council president, opened the meeting with the "Garden Club Creed." Mrs. J. O. Luck, therapy chairman, submitted a proposal which was to prepare dish gardens and bouquets of seasonal greenery for the local rest homes. It was agreed to work with the individual local clubs on this matter.

The yearly project for the council was adopted. The group decided to landscape the Farm and Labor Camp on Highway 97 West. Mrs. Lyle McMahon, council vice president, reported that a flower show school will be held in Hope next spring.

During the morning coffee was served to 18 members.

Miss Beverly Kay Martin and Jimmy Joe Sinclair Exchange Wedding Vows

Fern trees and white wrought iron candelabra formed a background for the bridal party when Miss Beverly Kay Martin and Jimmy Joe Sinclair exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church of Big Springs, Texas, on November 7.

White aisle markers led to the large sunburst of white gladioli before which stood the white satin prie dieu that the couple knelt on for the ceremony, read by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Big Springs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Martin of Big Springs, and the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Stinnett of our city.

Mrs. Ray Darby, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Hubert Nelms as he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Both performers are from Big Springs.

Chantilly lace and tulle fastened the gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. The neckline of the fitted bodice followed the natural scallops of lace, and it was re-embroidered with seed pearls. Long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The full skirt over taffeta and net was of alternate lace and pleated tulle tiers with a front panel of lace, also re-embroidered. On a white Bible the bride carried a cascade bouquet centered with orchids. The bridal veil was waist-length and was held in place by a pearl tiara with a single pearl teardrop as the central ornament.

The maid of honor was Miss Karen Baldwin of Big Springs, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Gwynn Haggard and Miss Cookie Sneed of Seminole, Texas. They were identically dressed in velvetine of diox blue, made princess style with emphasis on small bows at the back waistlines. Cowl necklines extended into deep V-shapes in the backs. Hats were tiny bows to match those on the frocks, and blue velvetine millinery completed the ensembles. Blue carnation nosegays were carried by the girls.

Serving as best man was F. J. Collins, uncle of the bridegroom. Guests were seated by John Brown, Johnny Harrison, and Phil Miller. The latter two also lighted the tapers. Groomsmen were Billy Bluhm and Roy Brown.

At the conclusion of the ceremony guests gathered in the fellowship hall for a reception. White satin covered the bride's table, overlaid with net in tiers extending to the floor. A single candelabra, entwined with fern and white carnations, held white tapers. Silver appointments were used in serving punch and the three-tiered wedding cake.

For traveling, the bride chose a suit of brown basket weave wool with a dyed beaver collar. Her hat was beige and other accessories were brown. After a wedding trip,

May-Bobo Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Billings of Hope, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elva Jeanette May to Elvin Tilman Bobo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bobo of Spring Hill. The couple plan a December wedding which will take place at the home of her parents.

Accident the positive. Stand on your own two feet, figuratively speaking, and you'll suddenly discover that others need you, as much as you need them. Friends and loving children will then be ringing your door-bell. You get about what you give in this world.

Dear Dorothy Dix:

I work 40 hours a week. At night when I come home exhausted, my husband is constantly complaining that the ironing is not done, meals are not ready on time, the house is messy. I have tried to point out that if a wife works to help out the budget, a man should help her a bit. He promises to help but when it comes time to dry dishes, empty the baskets and wash the floor it is another story. Do you have any solution whatsoever that could help me and thousands of others in this predicament? — Discouraged & Tired

Dear Discouraged and Tired:

You happen to live in a period of transition. Not so long ago woman's place was in the home.

Now many wives have been forced by economics to help supplement the family budget. They find the going rough. When a husband whose wife works complains of ironing undone, meals off schedule and house untidy, he is simply asserting himself as male. It's a hangover from caveman days.

You can reason with him till the cows come home but he's not

Porks Thinking Only of Texas Tech Saturday

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bowl fever is rampant in this chilly mountain town today, but the Arkansas Razorbacks' training camp seems comparatively free of it.

The Hogs still are working as they did two, five, nine games ago—taking them one at a time.

Right now they're thinking about Texas Tech, whose Red Raiders face them Saturday in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium.

The Razorbacks were driven inside Barnhill Field House yesterday for their light Monday work-out. But all hands were in action. Even halfback Jim Mooy and end Les Latsinger, who missed the 14-14 victory over SMU last week, were working out and should be ready for Tech.

That gave the Razorbacks a full squad for the first time since they met Tulsa in the season opener.

The Hogs looked at films of the SMU game yesterday, then tried to forget about it and their co-championship in the Southwest Conference. Now they're aiming for two things in the Tech game: (1) a tie of Arkansas' best modern record of 8-2; (2) a real chance at a bowl besides the Cotton Bowl.

If Texas loses to Texas A&M, the Hogs are in the Cotton Bowl. But, this being unlikely, they're still getting ready for what other bowl opportunity might be available.

The Gator Bowl announced yesterday that Arkansas was among 12 teams being considered.

The Hogs moved up to 13th in the nation with the victory over SMU while Texas Christian, a team Arkansas beat 3-0, moved to 10th with a 14-0 triumph over previously second-place Texas.

Tech beat Houston last week 27-0 and has a 5-4 season record.

A cold wave due in the state last night might hamper Arkansas workouts for the rest of the week. Show was a possibility.

"When you buy a new car you expect a substantial trade-in allowance, and when you switch to a new package policy you can trade your old insurance in as a substantial part of the total cost," I explained to Mr. Jones.

"That's swell," he said. "I like that idea. I just assumed the existing insurance when I bought a home here. But I wasn't sold on the kind of all the protection I can get."

"Insurance for the home has been improved far beyond the ordinary fire policy," I added. "Like a car can with automatic drive, power brakes and power steering, the broad package policy includes some 20 different perils, many of which were not included under your old policies."

Mr. Jones nodded. "I had heard that better protection was available. I'd like to increase the amount of coverage too."

"It's smart," I replied. "To have a safety margin—the amount of insurance over and above the minimum requirements. It protects your EQUITY as well as the home company, and it is doubly important in a period of rising replacement costs."

Radio Embedded in Dog's Stomach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four scientists said today they have embedded a tiny, two-ounce radio transmitter inside a dog's body and connected it to the animal's heart.

Their plan is to send a dog, or monkeys, so instrumented aloft in satellites before man goes up, to radio back heart action or other signs of hazards in space flight, they said in a report prepared for the American Rocket Society. That group opens a five-day meeting today.

The authors of the study are Dr. Leslie Krebs, Dr. Alfred Brockler, Ben L. Ellerson and David W. Douglas of the University of Southern California, and a consulting agency, SpaceLab Inc., Van Nuys, Calif.

The dog used in the initial experiment was a male beagle around 1½ years old and named "Orbit." A radio transmitter 3 inches long, an inch wide and ½ of an inch thick was inserted entirely within his chest cavity. The dog recovered quickly from the hour-long operation.

Independents Win Another Over Emmet

Hope Independent basketball team won their third game of the season last night in the Guernsey gym by defeating the Emmet Indians 106 to 44.

Scoring for the winners were Charles Jones with 27, Steve Marlar with 24, Billy Mitchell 22, Harold Honea 17 and Brant Odem 16. Pharris led Emmet with 16 and Weeks sacked 12.

The local team is looking for games with other Independent teams in this area. Contact Billy Mitchell at 7-2898.

Lance Credits Socks for His 'Great Day'

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — If you ask Arkansas Razorback halfback Lance Alworth the reason for his great day against Southern Methodist last Saturday, you'll probably get this answer: "Well, partly I guess because I took off those socks."

Now, if you think that sounds like a wisecrack, you're wrong. The smiling, serious kid from Brookhaven, Miss., really thinks his socks or the lack of them, had a lot to do with the fact that he ran up 183 yards rushing, scored one touchdown and ripped over for the extra points that gave Arkansas its victory margin.

The Hogs beat the Ponies 17-14 and gained a tie for the Southwest Conference championship.

"I never had worn socks like that," Alworth said. "I never saw 'em in high school land when it got cold in the Cotton Bowl and they told us we were going to wear those long socks. I said, 'Well, I don't know.'"

The story goes on and on.

"Anyhow, he said, 'the first time I carried the ball, fumbled. So I went out of the game and took those things off. Then I was okay.'

The 175-pound sophomore led the Hogs to a record (for them) 400 yards rushing and their seventh victory in nine starts. And he established a reputation for himself.

"One of the finest backs we've seen all year," said SMU Coach Bill Meek.

"The best runner I've seen in a number of years," said Texas Tech assistant coach Beattie Feathers, who was scouting.

Lance admits he's a little superstitious.

"Before the Ole Miss game," he said, "we were walking across the field and I saw a St. Christopher medal lying there on the grass. I thought it was probably an omen so I put it in my shoe."

It wasn't an omen. Lance was only average that day and the Hogs lost 27-0, their only real licking of the year.

"So I figured maybe I should put it in my practice shoe," he said. "It's been there ever since."

Lance's young wife knows about his superstitious streak, too. "If he does well on Saturday," she said, "he makes me remember what we had to eat the week before. And we eat it again the next week."

Alworth and his mates must beat Texas Tech in their last game Saturday. "If we're going to get a bowl bid, we have to beat 'em," he said.

Syracuse Tops Poll, Arkansas Goes to 13th

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Syracuse continued its magic of managing to be more and more impressive with each game and marked its second straight week as the No. 1 college football team in the nation today—unbeaten, untied and unchallenged in The Associated Press poll.

The Orange with two regular season games left before a New Year's Day date in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, were named first on 126 of the 253 ballots cast by sportswriters and sportscasters for almost a 2-1 margin over runner-up Mississippi.

They did it by whipping expected pushover Colgate by an unexpected 71-0 to retain the No. 1 berth they gained in a seven-week rise from 20th.

The rankings, determined by total points awarded on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc., show Syracuse with 2,145 points to 1,859 for Mississippi, which drew 68 first place votes.

Ole Miss moved up from fifth in a swap with Texas after the Longhorns were handed their first defeat, 14-0, by Texas Christian.

Louisiana State, which tumbled to third a week ago after a 14-13 upset by Tennessee, remained 5 behind Mississippi — whose lone loss was to LSU (7-3). Ole Miss walloped Tennessee 33-7 last Saturday.

Southern California, matching Syracuse's 8-0 record as the only perfect-record clubs left among the majors, stayed fourth.

Georgia jumped to sixth from 12th after beating Auburn 14-13. Penn State, beaten only by Syracuse (20-18), moved from 10th to 17th while Northwestern and Wisconsin each dropped two places, to eighth and ninth, after suffering their second defeats.

TCU, also a two-time loser, shot up to 10th from 18th for its job on Texas.

Chapter XXVI

Sara forgot about her ankle, she leaned forward and started to move her feet off the stool. The pain made her lean back as she had been. "How? When did you know I was investigating for the insurance company?"

"I followed you the other day, Sara. And when you left the warehouse, I couldn't help it," said Manuel. "I had to know if you were insurance agents. Or if you were that guy at the exercise of." He looked down at his hands for an instant and back up again. "I saw you go in the building where the thermometers. That's when I knew I had to find out what you were doing there."

"May I tell you one thing, Manuel?" She finally went on. "I couldn't sleep last night. I kept seeing you with Guarro." He snatched his eyes to her ankle. "My warning — it was to warn you against Guarro that I said I had to see you today — was both to him and unnecessary."

"May I tell you one thing, Manuel?" She waited until he returned his eyes to her. "I didn't plan to fall in." She hadn't planned to say that either.

"I didn't plan," she began, "to make you fall in love with me." She stood. The possibilities crossed my mind, but I didn't want to do it. And I don't know what I'm going to do now."

"I know what you want to know, of course. You want to know what caused the fire. I can promise not to leave the office."

"I mentioned a snake in his statement to Horowitz. But you should stop a thief!"

Manuel shook his head. "Not likely. If it was one of my men,

HOPE STAR, HOPE, ARKANSASLove for Cash Will Hamper Labor Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The yen for a buck and some other human considerations stand in the way of success from any labor-management conference.

President Woodrow Wilson called such a conference in 1919, after World War I. It collapsed. President Harry S. Truman called another in 1945, after World War II. The results were pathetic.

New AFL-CIO President George Meany suggests that President Eisenhower call a labor-management meeting. Eisenhower may do so.

Meany gave these reasons for proposing it: (1) to avoid a recurrence of long, costly strikes, as in steel; (2) to improve labor-management relations, especially to cope with rising Soviet economic power; and (3) to avoid tougher laws by Congress.

Meany's most compelling reason is probably fear of action by Congress when it returns in January to protect the country from the damage of big strikes.

That action could range all the way from some harmless, ducking-the-issue window-dressing to a ban on big strikes and compulsory arbitration. No matter what it would mean government interference.

If Eisenhower calls a labor-management conference any time soon, it will take the edge off demands for congressional action until the results are seen, provided there are no more big strikes in the meantime.

The alternative to restraints imposed by the government is for labor and management to agree on restraints for themselves for the good of the rest of the country. That's a big gimmick.

The task of getting two powerful groups to yield any of their freedoms without compulsion is still one of the problems of political philosophy.

With labor unions free to strike to back up their demands and management free to refuse the demands, a big strike becomes a test of strength at public expense.

It would be one of the 20th century's miracles if either side now simply because of meeting in a big room, would yield freedom voluntarily.

Basically, these are the same opposing forces which could not whatever! This she had learned from experience.

Manoel moved his chair closer. He took her hands away from her ears and held them.

"Tell this to your home office, Sara. I tried to rig up a trap of electric wires, and they backed off. And this isn't spoken in anger. That's over now." As if to convince himself, Manoel reached down and patted Preugocio.

Sara said nothing. If it wasn't anger, then it was bitterness. But she would have to listen.

"Several times before the fire," he went on, "small lots of rubber would disappear, either during or just before shipment. The loads would be reported short at the factory."

"You suspected Guarro," Sara asked, "because he knew all about your business?"

"There were others, too. The foreman who died in the fire knew as much and had a better chance to steal. But the difference was character. The foreman, was a simple man who didn't pretend to be what he wasn't. Guarro's no more a de Faria than I am. He was born down on the Rio Guama, and youngsters along the Guama seldom know who their fathers are."

So that's why Guarro hates those children, Sara said to herself. "Why," she asked, "didn't you have him arrested?"

"The police must have proof. So I told myself I'd catch the thief. I stayed at the warehouse myself several times when a big shipment was going out the following day, but nothing happened, and those shipments were not reported short at the factory.

I stayed at the warehouse myself several times when a big shipment was going out the following day, but nothing happened, and those shipments were not reported short at the factory. I could have stayed there every night and guarded each shipment, but I don't want a business it."

He shrugged without finishing, and Sara wondered if she knew now what he'd meant when he'd implied that in spite of his money he was not successful.

"What about Jose?"

"Doesn't everyone have his price?"

"Perhaps." Even she had hers.

Jose is like the rest of the men. Silent and sullen around me, but talkative with others."

Sara started to disagree with his use of "talkative" but he went on. "Of course Jose wants to talk about what he wants to talk about." She thought of the sunrice and knew that Manoel was probably thinking about it, too.

Or was trying not to. "I rigged electric wires by the steps," he finally continued, "so if anyone went upstairs or over the stacks on the main floor, he'd run afraid of them."

"Weren't you afraid you'd kill someone?"

"I'd helped father put in an electric generator out home and I know how much the human body can take. As for Jose, I told him that one of the men had
